Amazing Senior

Meet this month's Amazing Senior, Ginger Magoon.

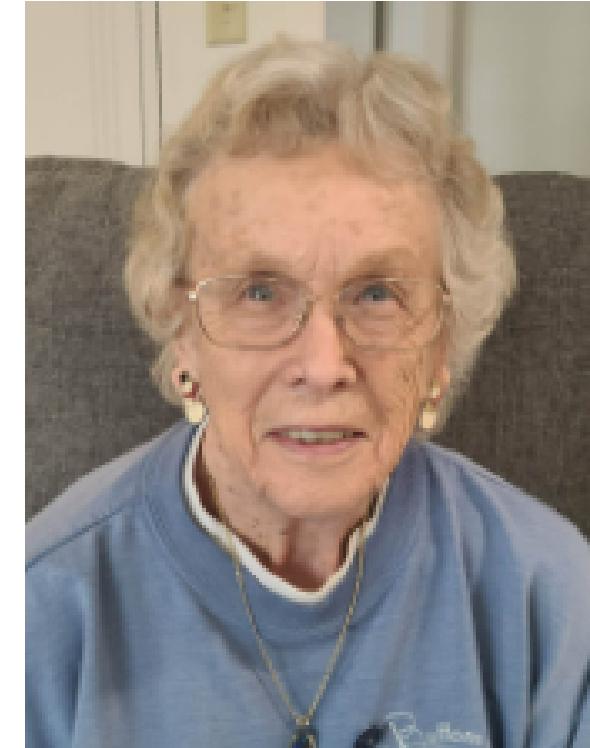

Ginger was born and raised in St. Johnsbury, Vermont. She is a proud graduate of St. Johnsbury Academy. She married Dick Magoon in 1958 and together they raised 3 lovely daughters.

Ginger and Dick went into the restaurant business. together they owned and ran the Shamrock Restaurant in St. Johnsbury Center for approximately 27 years. Ginger reports that the restaurant evolved and changed with the times. At one point, they had a miniature golf course at one end of their parking lot. Occasionally, they would have live music at the restaurant. At one point they even employed "car hops" to serve food to people in their cars. The Shamrock was well known and well respected for good food and great service!

Ginger reports that they lived just across the street from the restaurant, enabling her to raise her family while also running a busy business.

After selling the business, Ginger and her husband started wintering in the south and working part-time jobs the remaining months in Vermont. Ginger states that her husband passed away in 2001. She is now a happy resident at the St. Johnsbury House and still spends time enjoying the sun and warmer temperatures vacationing with family in Florida.

We are fortunate to welcome Ginger this month's Amazing Senior!
